IMPORTANT INFORMATION
Itinerary Change – Adjusted Embarkation Time

Dear Valued Guests and Travel Partners,

We're delighted to welcome you aboard Norwegian Escape for your upcoming journey departing August 29, 2026. As you prepare for embarkation, please note that our sail away time has been adjusted to 10:00 pm from the original 4:00 pm. Travel partners are kindly asked to ensure impacted guests review the details below.

Even the most carefully curated itineraries may require occasional updates. We work closely with port authorities to finalize timing and confirm every detail well in advance, though schedules can evolve as multiple ships move through the port throughout the day. As passionate travelers ourselves, we understand that changes like this can feel unexpected, and we truly appreciate your flexibility as we fine-tune plans with your overall experience in mind.

In this case, while the port remains available, our assigned window for embarkation has shifted due to other ships calling earlier in the day. While unexpected, this later departure creates a more relaxed start to your journey. You'll have extra time to settle in, avoid the afternoon rush, and ease into vacation mode at a comfortable pace, exactly how a getaway should begin.

If you're spending the day in New York, it's the perfect excuse to savor a favorite café, discover a new corner of the city, or simply enjoy those iconic skyline views one more time. If you call New York home, it's a chance to revisit a favorite spot or experience the city from a fresh perspective. Whether you're ready to explore or simply soak it all in, it's a relaxed, memorable way to ease into vacation mode before you step onboard. Your updated departure time is reflected in your itinerary below.
